12/22/2021

The ranking identifies the best-managed U.S. companies of 2021 as developed by the Drucker Institute.

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- KB Home (NYSE: KBH), one of the largest and most recognized homebuilders in the U.S., has been named to The Wall Street Journal's (WSJ) "Management Top 250" list, the only national homebuilder to receive this distinction. The Management Top 250 ranking identifies the most effectively managed U.S. companies of 2021 as developed by the Drucker Institute. Management Top 250 measures corporate effectiveness by examining performance in five areas: customer satisfaction, employee engagement and development, innovation, social responsibility and financial strength.

"We're honored to be named to The Wall Street Journal's Management Top 250 list, the only national homebuilder to receive this distinction in 2021," said Jeffrey Mezger, KB Home's Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer. "This recognition underscores our long-standing commitment to delivering industry-leading customer satisfaction, creating a culture of excellence and driving sustainability innovation that positively impacts our stakeholders and delivers long-term value."

Management Top 250 includes the top U.S. companies from a universe of 846 publicly traded companies that were included in a Drucker Institute study. The study is based on an analysis of 34 data inputs provided by 14 third-party sources. The five areas are weighted nearly equally to calculate a score that forms the basis of the ranking.
